This Certificate course covers sexual and reproductive health issues for both women and men at a post graduate level.

The course is accredited for CME points by the RACGP and ACRRM. It is held in high esteem and thought to be very practical in nature, giving participants the confidence and skills to work at a high level in this area. Different to the DRANZCOG, the course focuses on primary care aspects of sexual health, a core aspect of both general practice and specialist training in obstetrics and gynaecology.

Those who might have a special interest in completing the Certificate are GP Registrars (where the skills obtained in this course cover many of the objectives set out in the women's and men's health core curriculums), general practitioners and those who wish to work in community health centres, or family planning clinics.

Course Content – 5 day theory

- Female and male reproductive physiology
- Contraception: information on different contraceptive options, both hormonal and non-hormonal, and management of problems associated with their use.
